PRESIDENT'S COLUMN

HAPPY NEW YEAR! 2011 was a ridiculous year for me. All 3 cars broke down at once two weeks before my daughter's wedding. My computer died twice. Add the cost of a new car and computer to it all. So I am more than happy for a new start on this January 1.

Last year had some major accomplishments though. The Overholser Mansion Reunion was a small success, despite broken air conditioning and some who could not find us hiding in the Carriage House. Many apologies to those who somehow missed us.

My personal family tree book is printed and bound after 17 years of labor! Last year I also had to re-create the mailing list after the computer crash. I just found the last info today.

For those who wish a book copy of last year's Reunion Speaker:

Because I Can: Doing what I can, with what I have, where I am can be ordered a few ways.

Online orders: www.JanetOber.com & click on My Book.

Order by phone: 484-798-7824 or mail a check to

Janet Oberholtzer, 957 Kurtz Mill Road, Mohnton, PA 19540

Also, Erich Overhultz just finished writing her book "The Soils of Muhlenberg County." The book focuses on the ancestors, lives, and descendants of AV6 Mark Overhuls and Mary Landis, early settlers of Muhlenberg County, KY. Copies are available from OFA or Erich Overhultz, Plantation, FL erichoverhultz@comcast.net I am certain she would love to hear from you.

This summer I am pleased to turn over the OFA to a new President Jack Street. Since November 2007 when I took over for the late Barbara Ford, household membership has risen from 308 to 437, the largest in our history. Much of the family lines are compiled from Barbara's seven filing drawers. Speakers are being arranged for future Reunions.

OVERHOLSER FAMILY ASSOCIATION
105th Annual Reunion
August 6, 2011

The 105th reunion of the Overholser Family Association convened at St. John's Center United Church of Christ on Saturday, August 6, 2011. Twenty-seven people were in attendance.

The day began with a social time and lunch, with Scott Fisher offering a prayer.

Dennis Oberholtzer, President, welcomed the group and members introduced themselves and their guests. Dennis reported that John Weiler has retired as the group's chaplain and that a 2nd Vice President is needed to complete the slate of officers.

A letter from Jack Scholl, former president of the OFA, was read. He was unable to attend due to illness. Prayers for Jack were requested. Ruth Oberholtzer, Spencer's wife, was also unable to attend.

John Shinpaugh reported that he has been hosting the association's website and asked for suggestions for additions and/or changes.

BUSINESS:

1) Archival Material:

Dennis has materials from Barbara Ford and Rev. I. E. Oberholtzer which are kept at his home. He and others are concerned about the possibility of the materials being destroyed by fire or other catastrophe. There was discussion about copying the materials and sending the originals to the Lancaster Mennonite Society for safekeeping. In such a case, a monetary donation would be made for the maintenance of the material. Dennis pointed out that historical societies will sometimes keep the most used documents and auction off others once the money received for maintenance runs out. The question was raised as to whether the LMS has a written policy on the subject.

It was the consensus of the group that none of the materials should be auctioned, and if the LMS did follow this policy, we would want to be assured that the materials would be returned to the organization rather than sold. It was suggested that a vote on how to proceed should be delayed until these questions have been satisfactorily settled. Meanwhile, Carolyn Kendall offered the use of a fireproof file cabinet to store the information. Dennis has a scanner and will begin the process of scanning the documents.

Dennis confirmed for the group that the plan is to: 1) Investigate the process of donating material to the Lancaster Mennonite Society; 2) For the time being, maintain the documents in the fireproof file.

2) Computer Files

Dennis has completed documenting in computer files all of the lines we currently have. Copies were available at the meeting for members to look over. He requested that members send corrections and additions they noted in reviewing the documents. Material which members send to him now will be added and saved, but he won't be researching these records. He asked that someone volunteer to continue research on younger generations.

Dennis asked for feedback on the question of how to distribute the computer files. Possibilities included providing the files online or burning CDs and charging for them. Objections to putting the material online were: 1) Size of the material (adding to the website will entail additional cost without any compensation for providing the information); 2) Privacy.

A third suggestion was to publish another book which would include pictures and stories. A CD would be provided along with the paper copy. It was noted that we currently still have two boxes of the red book available for sale.

Members voted in favor of putting the information on CDs and charging for them. They voted against making the material available free online. Also passed was the proposal to pursue another book when the materials were completed.

Janet May Pedigree Chart: John Brubaker 1733 - m _____ Oberholtzer
I cannot substantiate a first name of "Maria" Oberholtzer.

When Janet May asked me to look into who the father of John Brubaker's wife could be, I had little confidence of finding anything to confirm a match. But I found Henry's last name has been misspelled as Ourwalt and Owerwasser. The Brubaker family genealogy by Gibble correctly called his daughter an Oberholtzer. Both Ourwalt & Owerwasser are not any European family names. Henry most likely had a speech impediment, and the documentors wrote what they heard coming from a different language.

The Brubaker family also has two other Overholzers, though not closely connected. They are from the AV5 Line of Oberholzers.

Henry Owerwasser's property was in Cocalico. That was the original name. The warrant was written later, then called Elizabeth Township, and still is. John Brubaker's uncle was married and living in Elizabeth Township. It is most likely John met Miss Oberholtzer in that area. Part of Henry's land is presently the A-1 Brubaker farm on the S side of the road.

3) DNA Analysis

Dennis has been contacted by two individuals about conducting DNA analysis of the remains of S. L. Oberholtzer who is buried somewhere around Millersburg. If it is possible to locate his grave and perform the DNA testing, it could difinitively prove a connection to the Oberholtzer family in Switzerland.

Dennis asked for a vote on the question to eventually pursue this. After discussion it was decided that more information on the process and cost were needed to make a decision. Dennis will inquire, but also asked others to look into the matter and bring information to next year's meeting.

Carolyn Kendall presented the Treasurer's Report. Balances include $2,566.64 in savings (from donations); $11,385.83 in the book fund; $146.86 in checking; and $3,639.30 in the lunch fund. Carolyn suggested that a policy is needed on copying charges. These should be paid from the treasury book fund. When we are ready to start selling the CDs, we should have a separate treasury category for the income and expenses.

A basket was passed to receive donations to the OFA.

Dennis then introduced the speaker, Janet Oberholtzer, who discussed her forthcoming book, Because I Can. Janet was involved in a serious accident in 2004. The book is about her physical and emotional recovery from this devastating event. More information is available at janetober.com where she maintains a blog.

The meeting was adjourned and the official reunion photograph taken.

Respectfully submitted,

Carol Carroll, Secretary

CHECKUP on JA Line

I recieved an e-mail by Carolyn O Wenger, editor of Pennsylvania Mennonite Heritage magazine, concerning JAsr John Overholser as having a death date of 1794. She made mention that sometimes other dates, [such as when a will is written], are confused with death dates. In this case, I found the 1794 death date of a John Overholser to have come from the county Orphan's Court records. Since JA John still lived in the 19th century, it had to be his father, which I designated as JAsr John Overholser.

We are constantly trying to improve. We hope that having speakers at the Reunion each year will improve attendance. DNA is beginning to be discussed for certain situations. And now that our archival records are in a fire-proof safe, we can rest a little better. Duplicate copies are being sent out. The new compiled lines will be duplicated and sent this year.

In time I hope to put Barbara Ford's OFA Bulletins onto CD disks for availability. I also hope to create an Addendum to each family line with pertinent legal data entered for proof of reference materials. These are long-term jobs that will take time, as I am working on writing personal Christian research.

Keep up the great job of communication among other OFA members! We are one of the rare family associations that are thriving. And it does take work. But it is worth it. I recently showed my personal fan chart to a boy, explaining that in 10 generations it took 1023 people to make HIM. The impact was enormous. No longer was he a disconnected nobody.

Yours respectfully, Dennis L Oberholtzer

The Dukes of Zaeringen

[Switzerland] was held for the most part by feudal families after the 11th Century A.D..

- Columbia Viking Desk Encyclopedia, 1953 Viking Press

The following timeline of events help to fill in some of the uneventful years in which the Overholzer family could grow their furniture business in relative peace.

The rule of the Dukes of Zaeringen ushered in a long period of comparative peace (1105-1218), which improved the social and material condition of the people. This included the lands of the Oberholtz Valley. "Yet this time of peace was every now and again interrupted in the west by feuds with the Burgundian nobles. [One] Swabian family took their name from the ancestral manor of Zaeringen, near Freiburg, in the Breisgau (Black Forest). The vast estates they had derived from the House of Rheinfelden on its extinction reached from Lake Geneva to the rivers Aare and Emme, and gave them a dominant position in the country at the opening of the twelfth century." *

- *Story of Switzerland, by Lina Hug and Richard Stead, 1890 G P Putnum's Sons

"From 1173 to 1212 A.D., the Habsburgs inherited the rights of the Count of Zurich. They remained loyal to the local governing body, which at the time was the Hohenstauffen emperors." - The Habsburgs, 1995 Andrew Wheatcroft, the Penguin Group

"Feudalism had grown apace in Switzerland, and what a hard struggle the people had, to hold their own against the impositions of princes and nobles." - Story of Switzerland

From 1218 to 1267, Eastern Switzerland was ruled primarily by the House of Kyburg, then Savoy, then Habsburg. During this time, the local rulers held to the house of Stauffen (Hohenstauffen) instead of the Papacy of Rome. But upon "the death of Conradin (Stauffen) on the scaffold at Naples (in 1267), and the consequent extinction of the Stauffen line, Rudolf (of Habsburg) veered gradually round to the side of the Pope.

"Due to the loss of power in the late 1200's, many of the younger branches of the Hohenstauffen line fled from Prussia to Baden, Bavaria, and Switzerland. Still another branch of the family went at a later date into England and settled in Devonshire, where the name became Stover."

- The Stauffer Family, at the Lancaster Mennonite Historical Society library.

With the descent of power of the Hohenstauffen Dynasty, Ottokar Przemysl became King of Bohemia in 1273. Although reigning at this time, his power was more localized, and most likely had little effect on the Oberholtz lands and their neighbors.

MV Line Additions/Corrections

John Shinpaugh saw a fraktur in the Rockingham Co VA Heritage Center of a new child of the MV Line. Changes to Ford's OFA Book are in color.

MV9 Mathias Aberholzs 1790 Germany -

s/o father Marcus and his mother was an Ermentrout.

One needs reminded that in the 17th to 19th centuries, the vowels were sometimes interchanged in literature. Here the O is A in Aberholzs, and A is E in Ermentrout.

REF: Fraktur in Rockingham County Heritage Center, John Shinpaugh 2011

The date of birth for Mathias reveals that son HO Henry Overholt (now also MV1) is likely a year younger than Mathias. Henry is not likely a twin, or the fraktur would have both boys listed.

Progress of Computerization of Files

The compiled computurization of the OFA Files is nearing completion. Paper copies have been created in order to preserve the information in case of an electronic accident. Duplicate electronic copies will be held by at least two other individuals in other areas of the country. This is being created as a safety measure, just in case of any mishap from a nuclear accident, terrorism, or natural disaster.

Copies of family lines are being created for CD Format. Additional details, keys, headings, etc are being added for better comprehension. As per voter agreement at the 2011 Reunion, the CD Format will become available for $8.00. This will help cover costs, and bring in a small donation for the Association to help keep it growing.

There will be the possibility of future book printings. Pictures, stories, and such would be added to the CD versions to give more value to the printing. But this is years down the road. There are no present plans to print.
